As a part of our continuous development work we have during Spring 2022 evaluated an updated design of the Origo line together with selected customers. The material over the wrist joint has got a new compression zone which provides a firmer support and better dynamics together with the plastic splint.

The update will be phased in on all black Origo models starting in Autumn of 2022. They can easily be identified with the new updated package label. All beige models will continue to run in the old material quality.
